He has good bat speed with sound approach. Bat has potential to have good line drive gap power. More to come with strength.

Comments

Line drive power now with occasional lift for alley power. When he gets more strength his bat should have more potential for homerun power.

PLAYER SUMMARY

Good overall projection that should get better with time and overall strength. Defense is his game right now as he is a sure handed outfielder with an accurate arm.

Bat showed good potential but is lacking strength right now. Bat should get better with potential power as he gains strength. I loved his overall game as he plays with intensity on both sides of play. He will have potential to play at higher levels once he gains strength.
